

The Rev. Canon Christopher (Chris) Streeter
Canon for Mission Development & Innovation

Chris was born and raised in Newton, NJ and attended the Eastman School of Music where he studied Voice Performance and Music Education. It was during these college years that Chris discovered the Episcopal Church and began to discern a call to ordained ministry. He attended Virginia Theological Seminary and was ordained in 2009. Chris has served in a variety of parish settings, including large parishes in the suburbs of Washington D.C. and Rochester, NY. He was Rector of two yoked, rural parishes and a pastoral-sized parish in suburban Rochester. During his time in the Diocese of Rochester, Chris was called to serve in several leadership roles, including Vice-Chair of Diocesan Council and Chair of the Congregational Development Partnership Committee. Chris twice represented Rochester as a Deputy to General Convention, has taken classes toward a Doctor of Ministry degree in Transformative Leadership at Colgate Rochester Crozier Divinity School, and served as Dean of the Monroe District. He is a trainer for the College of Congregational Development, a formation initiative which provide tools and skills to congregations and individuals. Chris is absolutely thrilled at the invitation to join Bishop Scanlan's staff as the Canon for Mission Development & Innovation.
