Fall SbF Course:

Post Pandemic Church I & II

The season of COVID-19 has seen changes to some of our core, spiritual practices. Some of these pandemic adaptations have felt necessary and creative. Others have felt disorienting and uncomfortable. As our communities return to more familiar and “normal” routines, what learnings from this time might we choose to incorporate? How do we resist the temptations that can draw us to a place of comfort and complacency? How will we continue harvesting spirit-led innovations post pandemic?

This series of discussions, offered as part of our Shaped by Faith initiative in the Diocese of Central Pennsylvania, will enable church leaders to discern how we will guide the shaping our communities on the other side of Covidtide. Drawing on the experience of practitioners from across our Diocese and the wider church, and utilizing data gathered by our Diocesan Task Force on Theology & Ecclesiology, our areas of focus will include: liturgy and worship, pastoral offices, evangelism, fellowship, outreach and faith formation.
