INTRODUCTION

The Process

There are many ways to discern God's will for our lives. Within the Episcopal Church we have a rich treasury of resources. The resources compiled here rely on Scripture (Biblical selections), tradition (The Book of Common Prayer), and reason (sets of questions to provoke deep discussion). A total of 8 sessions with the discernment committee should be held, meeting either weekly or bi-weekly over three to four months.

Members are asked to prepare for each session by reading and contemplating the designated Bible passages, prayers from the Book of Common Prayer, and suggested discussion questions. It is appropriate that meetings begin by offering together "A Prayer of Self-Dedication" (BCP, p. 832, #61). Sessions may conclude by offering the collect or prayer designated for each individual session.

When you gather for each meeting, come with an expectation that the Holy Spirit will help guide your discussions. As you become aware of the insights God reveals to the group, ask, "How do these insights increase our awareness of the meaning and role of the Church, of lay ministry, of ordained ministry, and of the prayer and ministry we all share as Christians? How does all this relate to the vision and call of this particular person to the ordained ministry in the church?"

A Prayer of Self-Dedication (BCP, 832)

Almighty and eternal God, so draw our hearts to you, so guide our minds, so fill our imaginations, so control our wills, that we may be wholly yours, utterly dedicated unto you; and then use us, we pray, as you will, and always to your glory and the welfare of your people; through our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Amen.

Shared Leadership

Just as Christ shares His leadership with His Church, it has been found very helpful to share the leadership in this kind of discernment fellowship. Each and every member of the discernment group is expected to prepare and lead one or more sessions.

Suggested Questions

Following each portion of the study you will find a list of questions. They are meant to stimulate your thinking and not necessarily meant to be asked and answered as written here. In a way they are the questions behind the questions you will frame.

A variety of responses is possible. How the individual responds and how you assess the responses is part of a dynamic process in which you are determining the kind of ministry you might visualize this person as having. In framing questions, it is suggested that you be as pointed and specific as possible. Concrete data will give you a better picture of the person you are considering than will abstract ideas. Ask for plenty of examples.

Ample space is given for you to take notes along the way. At the conclusion of this process, they will be helpful in formulating a report regarding this person's call to ministry.

APPENDIX

Completion of the Final Report by the Discernment Committee

When the material in the Discernment Booklet has been covered, the Discernment Committee will meet without the Discerning Person for a Pre-Review Conversation, to review notes and to use the template to begin the drafting of an initial report, commenting on the gifts, growing edges, and making a recommendation to continue exploring either lay or ordained ministry.

The Discernment Committee, with the Rector (or Bishop's Designee) and the Discerning Person will then meet to share the observations, insights, and recommendations of the Discernment Committee and to engage in a conversation, incorporating the Discerning Person's response and input. If necessary, the Discernment Committee will then meet another time without the Discerning Person to form the final report. The final report is sent to the Discerning Person.

Prayer and blessing will be an integral part of the final meeting, with the option for the laying on of hands in blessing the Discerning Person in their gifts and call to build up the Body of Christ.

If the Discerning Person desires to continue towards ordained ministry, the Discernment Committee sends the final report to the Rector (or Bishop's Designee), and the Vestry. The Discernment Committee's work is done.

Please use the Final Report Template provided by the COM. The report should contain the following:

- A summary of discernment committee meetings, participants, and process.
- A profile of the nominee, including time of membership in the congregation, various ministries in the congregation and community, and other background information.
- A candid assessment by the discernment committee as a group and/or if necessary, from individuals not in agreement. It includes details of both gifts for ministry and growing edges.
